UCOP PAYCHECK FAQS

Where do I go to view my UCOP paycheck online?

As of Nov. 30, you can view your UCOP paychecks on the UCPath website under Income and Taxes. Pay information will be available one day prior to pay day. A schedule of paydays and when paychecks can be viewed will be posted on the UCPath website: ucpath.universityofcalifornia.edu.

Where can I find my vacation and sick time accruals?

You will be able to log on to the UCPath website and view your accruals under Leave Balances.

When will I be able to elect additional accounts for direct deposit? Will I be able to do this before my first paycheck with UCPath?

Your first paycheck with UCPath will deposit the full amount of your pay into your primary account. When UCPath goes live at UCOP on Nov. 30, 2015, you will be able to log on to the UCPath website and change direct deposit elections in the Income and Taxes section. Changes take roughly two weeks to be reflected on paychecks. IMPORTANT: If you have a credit union deduction, you will need to reinstate that on the UCPath website by Dec. 3 (for those paid bi-weekly) or Dec. 14 (for those paid monthly), 2015 in order for it to take effect for your second UCPath paycheck.

Why are some of the calculations slightly different than on my old paycheck?

The new system uses industry standard, automated calculations for deductions and withholdings. In some cases, this may result in minor differences (typically a few cents) in calculations for federal or state taxes, voluntary deductions, flexible spending accounts and dependent care deductions. If you have questions about your pay or believe there is an error on your paycheck, contact the UCPath Center.

Why are my deductions displayed differently?

The new system uses an industry standard method for categorizing and displaying deductions: before tax and after tax.

Why have I been issued a new employee ID number?

As part of the transition to UCPath, new employee ID numbers will be issued to UCOP employees to identify them in the UCPath system. This new ID number will be used wherever you use your current employee ID.
